

The book cover features a dark, textured background. On the left, a woman's shoulder and arm are visible, wearing a white, draped garment with a gold Greek key border. Her hair is styled in a braid with green leaves. In the bottom right, a still life arrangement includes a silver tray with oysters, a large bunch of red grapes, and other produce. The title 'FEAST of SORROW' is written in white, with 'of' in a smaller, cursive font. Below it, 'A NOVEL OF ANCIENT ROME' is in a smaller white font, and 'CRYSTAL KING' is in a large, gold, serif font.

Set amongst the scandal, wealth, and upstairs-downstairs politics of a Roman family, Crystal Kings seminal debut features the man who inspired the worlds oldest cookbook and the ambition that led to his destruction. On a blistering day in the twenty-sixth year of Augustus Caesars reign, a young chef, Thrasius, is acquired for the exorbitant price of twenty thousand denarii. His purchaser is the infamous gourmet Marcus Gavius Apicius, wealthy beyond measure, obsessed with a taste for fine meals from exotic places, and a singular ambition: to serve as culinary advisor to Caesar, an honor that will cement his legacy as Rome's leading epicure. Apicius rightfully believes that Thrasius is the key to his culinary success, and with Thrasiuss help he soon becomes known for his lavish parties and fantastic meals. Thrasius finds a family in Apiciuss household, his daughter Apicata, his wife Aelia, and her handmaiden, Passia whom Thrasius quickly falls in love with. But as Apicius draws
